

Summary

The experiences I gained as a business owner, my customer relations, and communication skills have allowed me to develop my personal skills and meet new people while advancing my career. The experiences I acquired made it easier for me to transition into a new field. I would be pleased to continue my career in the software industry. However, I'm also eager to experience new business areas. I can manage my work more comfortably by balancing time management in stressful and relaxed situations. I'm inclined towards agile working models. I enjoy researching, learning new things, meeting new people, and exchanging knowledge. I can quickly grasp and build upon new things I learn. I'm someone who can take responsibility when needed, is successful in fulfilling assigned tasks, and is open to gaining experience in different areas.
